KINGSTON TRUST CO. RENEWS APPLICATION

Leave to Renew if None of Banks Established a Branch in Center of City Within Three Months, Was Given by Comptroller When Former Application Was Denied.

A notice of intention to organize the Kingston Trust Company was filed Wednesday with the superintendent of banks in Albany by Arthur C. Connelly and Gilbert F. Kenneky, the attorneys for the incorporators. This is a renewal of the former application which was tentatively denied by the superintendent of banks on August 4th, 1916, at which he wrote Mr. Kennedy and each bank in Kingston to the effect that he recognized the needs of the pople in the central part of Kingston and that he would entertain a renewal of the application in the event that none of the present Kingston banks established banking facilities in that part of the city within three months and providing that capable management and adequate capital are assured. None of the banks has taken any action and the three months' time has expired.

The following incorporators have signed the notice of intention to organize and the certificate of organization of the Kingston Trust Company:

John R. Millard, Kingston, N. Y.
Albert H. Cook, Kingston, N. Y.
George J. Schryver, Kingston, N. Y.
Charles Andres, Kingston, N. Y.
M. Clyde Crosby, Kingston, N. Y.
Joseph Krieger, Kingston, N. Y.
Peter Barmann, Kingston, N. Y.
William O'Reilly, Kingston, N. Y.
Ephraim G. Adams, Kingston, N. Y.
Robert E. Leighton, Kingston, N. Y.
Charles Ramsey, Kingston, N. Y.
William O. Schwarzwaelder, Chicaester, N. Y.
William B. Byrne, Kingston, N. Y.
George W. Ross, Port Ewen, N. Y.

The notice of intention to organize will be published for four weeks and the organization certificate will then be filed. Within sixty days after the filing of the latter the superintendent approves or refuses the application. If the application is approved a certificate authorizing the Trust Company will thereupon be issued. The above incorporators and other well known men of Kingston and Ulster county will undoubtedly constitute the board of directors who will choose the president and other officers of the trust company. The capital will be $150,000, with a surplus of at least $75,000.

Fire Near Woodstock.

The Mac Crumb residence, near the Byrdcliffe Art Colony, in Woodstock, was destroyed by fire on Thursday, only a few articles from the ground floor being saved. The family and guests were dining outdoors and did not know the house was burning until the entire upper part was in flames, the fire having started in the second story. The fire department did nothing, supposing that the fire was too far advanced for them to be of any assistance. Mr. Mac Crumb is an artist and his wife an author and many valuable manuscripts and pictures were destroyed by the fire.

Drama to be Repeated.

The four act drama entitled "Dot, the Miner's Daughter," will be given in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on Wednesday evening, December 6, by the young people of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church. Each character has been carefully selected and the drama is interspersed with humor and with clever specialties between the acts.

FULLERS ADOPT INSURANCE PLAN

Local Shirt Factory Takes Out Life Insurance on All of Its Employes Over 16 Years of Age, Paying the Premiums.

All of the employes of Fuller's shirt factory on Pine Grove avenue who are over sixteen years of age, and who have been in the employ of the factory for six months or over are now covered by $500 life insurance with an increase of $50 annually to a maximum of $1,000. The contract has been placed with The Travelers Insurance Company, and the plan was adopted by the Fuller Company after some consideration as it was decided that it was the best way in which to show appreciation for the loyalty and interest shown by its employes, who are entitled to designate the beneficiary, the insurance applying without any payment of premium whatever on their part. This insurance applies regardless of cause or place of death, the only requirement being that the insured is enrolled as an employe of Fuller's shirt factory.

The Thanksgiving supper at Livingston Street Lutheran Church, proved a grand success in every way, financially and socially. After supper the tables were cleared and games of various kinds indulged in. Withal it was a most enjoyable event and voted a decided success by both guests and members.

CONCRETE PILES FOR FOUNDATION OF CENTRAL PIER OF RONDOUT BRIDGE.

Hundreds of these big piles are now being cast on the Island Dock and they will be driven down their entire length of 25 feet until their tops are four feet above high tide level, forming a wall of piles around the central abutment by the new Rondout bridge. The dimensions of the abutment will be 60 by 87 feet. This wall will form a coner dam for the excavation to be carried to a depth of 14 feet and eventually be a part of the permanent foundation. Each pile is two feet wide and a foot thick, weighing approximately four tons. When they are driven home next spring, a hydraulic jet is used just ahead of the base of the pile to make its downward progress easier. Steam heat is used to keep the concrete from freezing in the making of the piles.

NEWBERRY TELLS WHY HE HOWLED

Not Because He Was Drunk, But Because He Had an Attack of Acute Indigestion—Pocketful of Medicine—"Humpy" Hutton Jailed.

G. W. Newberry, 26 years old, was arrested by Policeman Hess on Thanksgiving Day night on a charge of public intoxiction, and during the night he created quite a rumpus by howling and yelling at the top of his voice. He complained that he was ill and the police sent for a physican who after he had examined G. W. said it was simply a case of faking, and as far as he could see there was nothing the matter with him aside from imbibing too much joy water.

This morning Mr. Newberry was arraigned before Recorder Lang and came limping into court holding one arm across his side and emitting a groan now and then. He informed the court that he had been sick for the past three months, and Thursday night had been seized with an attack of acute indigestion that caused him to "holler." He said he could not help but yell as the pain was terrific.

He did not explain that his initials stood for the name of the most famous exponent of truthfulness in this country, but assured the court that he was telling nothing but the absolute truth.

When picked up by the police he had a number of bottles of what looked like medicine in his pocket. He also had some certificates from physicians.

"I think you need medical treatment," said Recorder Lang as he glanced at G. W. and added "Ten days in jail, and during that time the jail physician will be given an opportunity of looking after you."

"Thank you, your honor," exclamed G. W. as he hobbled from the court room.

"Humpy" In Trouble.

Harry Hutton, better known to the police as "Humpy" was also picked up on the holiday by Policeman Healey. "Humpy" had accummulated so much joy water that he labored under the impression he could whip the police force—that is one at a time.

He also was arraigned before Recorder Lang this morning and was instantly recognized by the court who called Humpy's attention to the fact that it was just about three months ago when Humpy paid a fine of $5 for the same offence.

Humpy explained his appearance in court today by saying that he was perfectly sober first off but had met a few friends and had a few drinks. "Every time I hit town" he complained "I meet some friends."

Humpy according to the police is a well known downtown character. This morning Recorder Lang sent him to the county jail for 15 days.

Charles Pratt Van Wert.

Wednesday Policeman Ryan ran across one Charles Pratt Van Wert, a stranger, 62 years old, who was drunk and panhandling on Wall street.

He was arraigned before the court on Thanksgiving Day morning and sentenced to two months in the Albany pen and sentence suspended provided he got out of town in an hour. Charles Pratt and the rest of him did so.

TURKEYS LEFT ON DEALERS' HANDS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Dec. 1.—New York produce dealers aren't very thankful for Thanksgiving. Thousands of pounds of turkey, collected here for the annual drive against the consumer's pocketbook, have been left on the dealers' hands, according to figures compiled today by the National Housewives' League. This, when coupled with the boycott on high priced eggs, has cost dealers thousands of dollars.

New York, generally speaking, continued eggless today. The price has been forced down 4 cents by the boycott so far and it is expected to go much lower at the end of another eggless week.

Reports that a boycott on butter was to go into effect as soon as the egg boycott is ended, met with general denials.

"A butter boycott," said Mrs. Julian Heath, originator of the boycott idea, "is impracticable at this time. What we are going to do is to collaborate with the dealers to force congress to take off the federal tax on oleomargarine."

Flat charges that a gigantic cold storage trust was in operation in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, were made today by Joseph J. Hartigan, chairman of Mayor Mitchel's food committee.

"Under laws in these three states," he said, "they cannot hold food in cold storage for more than ten months. But just before the time is up, they move the stuff into their partners' house in the neighboring state and from there to still another.

"About 75 cold storages in these three states are implicated in the conspiracy."

Mrs. Julian Heath announced today the formation of "thrift clubs" in every large city in the country. The clubs are to be formed through the churches and their prime objects will be to eliminate waste and promote judicious food purchasing.

Problem of Future Life.

In the St. James Methodist Church on Sunday night Dr. Baragwanath will conclude the interesting series on Sunday night talks on "Great Problems of the Soul." The final topic will be "The Problem of the Future Life—What will it be? Where will it be? Can we really know anything of the other life?" Noted scentists and famous authors will be brought forward to give witness. The preacher will discuss, among other things, the deep significance of the universal longing for immortality, and will then show the only way in which this universal soul problem may be satisfactorially solved.

Football Game Cancelled.

Not only was it a turkeyless Thanksgiving to hundreds of people in Kingston but, what was worse to a large contingent of fans, it was a football-less festival as well. Last year's high school team was to play a team composed of the alumni but the latter erstwhile gridiron gladiators were prevented from entering the arena at the eleventh hour by the shortage of football suits. The old boys could not play without suits and the town was scored for moleskins without result. The players and a large crowd of enthusiasts who hoped the weather would permit a game were sorry that it was cancelled.

Thanksgiving at City Home.

Thanksgiving Day fifty-four inmates of the City Home sat down to a chicken pie dinner with all the fixings including pumpkin pie and sweet cider.

ULSTER COUNTY SOCIETY GROWS

New Names Coming in Rapidly and Sons of Old Ulster Welcome the Thought of a Reunion.

The Ulster County Society in the City of New York, recently formed, is growing by leaps and bounds. Monday there was mailed in New York city over three hundred letters to former residents of this county inviting them to become members of the society and by Wednesday evening the secretary had received replies from over fifty, inclosing their checks for $1 each for the annual dues. Among the letters received by the secretary was one from the Rev. Michael J. Larkin, superintendent of parochial schools of New York city. Father Larkin wrote as follows:

"I take great pleasure in sending you my subscription for the Ulster County Society. I have often wondered why this movement had not been inaugurated. Now that it has come to pass, I wish it every success, and will be happy to do anything that may be in my power to promote its interests."

Dr. George L. Brodhead, of 50 West 58th street, wrote as follows:

"Good for you and the other men who have been instrumental in bringing about a reunion of Ulster county men. The idea occurred to me a few years ago, but pressure of work drove the thought from my mind. We shall all enjoy meeting each other and talking over old Rondout and Kingston. Have you sent a card to Howard Hasbrouck of New Paltz, who lives at the Cornell University Club? And to Edgar Newkirk of Boissevain & Co., 24 Broad street? Dr. Robert L. Loughran, of course, is on the list, also Will Crosby? Congratulations on the idea and let us know when to get together."

Another letter come from John McE. Carman, as follows: "I want to thank you in behalf of my friends whom you will invite to join the Ulster County Society and also for myself. I saw Rev. Mallick J. Fitzpatrick and his brother, Edward, the past Sunday, and they were quite pleased and requested me to send in the name of a friend of ours, Cornelius Curtin, 39 Cortlandt street, New York city. Wishing you success."

The Monday night of next week another meeting will be held in J. Ward Follette's office in the Woolworth Building. At that meeting the by-law committee will report. The membership committee will have a whole batch of business to report and the committee on nominating permanent officers will also report.

In all likelihood by the middle of January the society will arrange a dinner in one of the clubs or hotels in New York city and when it takes place there will be gathered around the festive board men in all walks of life and among the number will be those who have ascended the ladder of achievement as high as any county in this state is capable of producing. It is the intention of the society, when the dinner occurs, to invite residents of Ulster county to join with them and if there is a county in the state that has gone higher toward the bigger things in life than old Ulster, the members of the society would like to have it pointed out.

CITY EXPANSION CAMPAIGN DINNER

Roland B. Woodward of Rochester and Mayor Thompson of Middletown to be Here Next Friday Night for Chamber of Commerce Gathering—Captains Being Recruited.

The keynote of the Chamber of Commerce expansion campaign will be sounded at a mammoth "For Kingston" dollar dinner to be served in the main dining room of the Stuyvesant Hotel on Friday night December 8th.

Preparations for the big dinner have been under way for more than a week and the committee has succeeded in securing as speaker one of the foremost Chamber of Commerce executives of the United States, Roland B. Woodward, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Rochester. Mr Woodward's organization is considered a model by the entire secretarial profession, and has achieved wide fame in the last year or so because of the action of George Eastman of camera fame in endowing it with a $250,000 building.

Mayor Thompson of Middletown, with a corps of that city's new Chamber of Commerce enthusiasts, will come over as guests of the Compaign Organization, and Mayor Thompson will tell about Middletown's new chamber which has 385 members.

Lucius E. Wilson, Director of compaigns for the American City Bureau, will make the principal address with relation to the campaign. He will explain the movement in details, and will tell what Chambers of Commerce all over the country have done for cities such as Kingston.

The "For Kingston" dinner will be the final touch of the preliminary work of the expansion movement. The intensive membership work will begin on the following Monday morning with an army of 125 business men lined up in fifteen rapid fire squadrons in as many districts.

Fred A. Richardson, in charge of the team organization work, announces that the work of recruiting is proceeding rapidly, more than half the required number of captains having already pledged their service.

On account of the busy holiday season, the prospect list has been cutted down to what are considered practically "sure shots." Only two hours a day will be devated to the work of canvassing for the first five days of the week of December 11th. It is believed that the 500 members will be secured easily from the prospect list which was finally approved Wednesday night, and that as soon as the new chamber gets firmly established next year a great many additional members will be secured from among prospects that may not be reached during the campaign.

Rotary Club's Boost.

At their regular meeting Wednesday, the Kingston Rotary Club passed resolutions endorsing the expansion campaign and pledging their personal assistance in making it a success. The Rotarians will furnish music for the "For Kingston" dinner next week.

For lack of sympathy! Ah day by day,
How many cheerless, lonely hearts are breaking!

APPETIZING DISHES.

The sweet potato, owing to the large amount of starch and sugar it contains possesses higher food value than the white potato, and it would seem at the present prices that the sweet potato costs less. For the stuffed sweet potato select short, thick potatoes and parboil 15 minutes. Peel them, cut a slice from the top and remove the centers with a sharp knife or apple corer. If the potatoes are large a half one will b sufficient for one serving. Moisten a pint of bread crumbs with cream or milk; add a half teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth of a teaspoonful each of cloves, nutmeg and paprika, two finely chopped, hard-cooked eggs, two raw egg yolks and four tablespoonfuls of ham, finely chopped. This will fill six ordinary sized potatoes. Simmer in a cream sauce for half an hour or until the potatoes are tender.

Fruit Salad.—Cut a grapefruit into quarters and remove the pulp so as to leave the ontside in shape for serving. Mix one cupful each of grapefruit diced pineapple, broken pecan meats and quartered marshmallow with mayonnaise, dilute with whipped cream or beaten egg white. Chill. Line the sections of the grapefruit with lettuce leaves and fill with the mixture. Garnish with mayonnaise and candied cherries.

Feather Cake.—Cream a quarter of cupful of butter (four tablespoonfuls), gradually add one cupful of sugar, half a cupful of milk, and one and one-half cupfuls of flour, sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder; fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and add a quarter of a teaspoonful of vanilla. Bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven. Cover with white frosting.

Green Peppers Stuffed With Cauliflower.—Cut a thin slice from the stem end of a large green pepper and remove the seeds. Parboil ten minutes and fill with creamed cauliflower. Sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake until the pepper skins are tender, basting with butter and water.

KINGSTON, N. Y., DEC. 1, 1916.

Now that the election results have been embalmed, the Colonel's autopsy is issued, in which he explains in rational fashion the whys and wherefores of President Wilson's victory. The fact that so many people are profitably busy, a public callousness over the taking of American lives at sea and in Mexico and the President's giving in to organized labor on the Adamson bill are rightly classed by the former President as the chief causes of the effect noted on the eighth of November. With some of his other conclusions, we cannot agree. His hint at a public man who had praised the President's policies separately for three years and then condemned them collectively during the campaign is not worth serious consideration. The Colonel might go back himself four years when he was condemning the Republican party and the very leaders with whom he seemed to be glad to resume friendly relations in 1916. Colonel Roosevelt is a curiosity in American politics. In his own mind he had no notion but that he was bringing about the fusion of the Progressive and the Republican parties, but the operation was in reality transfusion, and the rush of new blood caused a temporary hardening of the arteries in important extremities of the older party's body politic. Another four years will see a complete cure and there will be no need for any more of Colonel Roosevelt's surgery.

A friend of ours has shown us a letter from one of the women who was on the "Golden Special"—that contrivance which played so prominent a part in defeating Hughes by disgusting everybody along the route with female activity in politics. We are sorry not to be able to print all of this document, but here is a sample: "At first I was acutely unhappy, and didn't know what was the matter with me. * * * *There was a woman from —— with us to whom I had been fairly indifferent before we started, but whom I found myself hating with the fresh, murderous hatred of a South Sea Islander. I rather enjoyed it, too, just as the Islander might have done. Then I realized that it was the atmosphere of temperamental femininity shut up together in narrow bounds for days at a stretch—something that in its mingling of tensions, reactions and inhibited impulses actually amounted to a physical atmosphere, that was weighing upon me. * * * * I soon learned to dodge women with their hair down—that moment when all women fix you with their glittering eye and insist upon telling you the story of their lives. * * * * Several were near the breaking point. * * * * Yet I admired the front they put up. Ladies who loathed the grounds other walked on would caress them on the stage so as to produce the sisterly-sweet-hand-in-hand effect." There is a lot more of this. It was on this same trip that the gifted Inez Milholland Boissevain was worried into the malady which caused her death. People who still think politics has a place in woman's sphere have never viewed the combination at close range.

Some of that provincialism which, unfortunately, is so typical of many New Yorkers crops out in the remark of Justice Collins, a magistrate of the greater city, to the effect that non-residents should not be called there to fill public positions. The jurist amplified this opinion by stating that it ought to be possible in a city of five and a half million souls to find sufficient men of the right type to handle its public affairs. In this latter position he is beyond doubt correct, but such possibility is seldom realized, as this authority must admit. His prejudice against outsiders, however, is not well-founded. Why New York City should be deprived of the services of a competent official simply because of a geographical consideration is a question that common sense cannot affirm successfully. Some of the biggest things ever done in hundreds of communities have been inspired and actually accomplished by forces from the outside. In every city the stranger within its gates is a potential leader and possible chief. The mere accident of a place of birth cannot militate against such. The time is the present and the question to the aspirant for official life should be solely one of capacity. The country is so closely knit together now with electrical communication and improved transportation mediums that non-residents can no longer be treated as strangers once they demonstrate their usefulness. As a matter of fact, the outside viewpoint is often a valuable contribution to the city of which the outsider becomes every whit as interested a citizen as the native. Non-residency is a non-essential in the list of qualifications for the ideal type of public servant.

Here's hoping you
Had a good
Thanksgiving, with Cranberry sauce on
The turkey.
With everybody
Happy, the $35,000
Campaign should be Easier.
Some silly talk
Seems to be floating
Around as to what
A poor time this
Is to run a campaign
In Kingston.
Bosh and nonsense!
The results of
Similar campaigns,
Run in scores of
Places by scores
Of men, show
That the time of
Year cuts no ice
Whatever, providing
A year is given to
Pay the pledges.
So if you hear
A person putting
Up such stuff
Mark 'em "M. D."--
Mentally deficient.
They are just seeking
An excuse for
Not doing much.
One super-
Sensitive soul
Said she was not Consulted about
The campaign
Before it was started.
How perfectly
Terrible! and
She concedes she
Is a leading
Woman at that.
Now then listen,
The officers of the
Sanitarium made
The arrangements
For the campaign
At this time because
They need the money
Badly for additional

Question that
Concerns the people
Of Kingston is, do
They want personally
To support a worthy
Public charity?
The answer is
"Yes!" as verified

CORPORAL LEGG HOME FROM TEXAS

Corporal Harry Legg, of the Seventh New York Regiment, N. G. U. S., just home from the border, passed Thanksgiving Day with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Legg, of 234 Smith avenue. Today Corporal Legg returned to the armory in New York, where tomorrow he expects to be mustered out with his regiment, whose home-coming was the occasion of such a splendid welcome in the greater city earlier this week. Corporal Legg became a member of the Seventh regiment last June when the call came for volunteers, leaving his desk in the offices of the Missouri Pacific railway to enlist. The life at McAllen, Texas, apparently agreed with him as he gained 25 pounds during his service and states that he would not have missed the experience for anything. After he has been mustered out of the Federal service, Corporal Legg expects to resume work in the railway office mentioned, his position having been held open for him and his pay continued during his absence.

"Kronstadt."

An interesting legend is told concerning the origin of the name of the city of Kronstadt. The old town hall is supposed to stand on the spot where a golden crown was found in the stump of a tree in 1204. The royal emblem was believed to have remained hidden here for more than 100 years. It was identified as having belonged to King Solomon of Hungary, who concealed it lest it fall into the hands of the pursuing Bulgarians. Hence the name, Kron Stadt.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, Dec. 1.—Thanksgiving services were held at St. John's Episcopal Church in the morning at 10:30 o'clock with a large attendance. The Rev. Dr. Hobson, rector, delivered the sermon. The choir rendered special music. The Thanksgiving service held at the Reformed Church was a union service, the Methodist and Lutheran congregations uniting with the Reformed congregation. The Lutheran Church is without a pastor. The Rev. W. H. Moser, of the Methodist Church, assisted in the service. A fine offertory anthem was rendered by the large choir. The congregation joined the choir in singing four very beautiful Thanksgiving hymns. Rev. Walter S. Maines delivered a very able Thanksgiving sermon, taking for his text I Thessalonians 5-18, which was enjoyed by the large congregation attending.

Thanksgiving was celebrated in Ellenville very quietly. All business was suspended. A large number of out of town relatives and friends were in town. There were many house gatherings. A large number of the Ellenville people dined at the Mitchell House and enjoyed the fine dinner served by Proprietor Millard. The dining room at this home like hotel has been thoroughly renovated, the walls very handsomely decorated and the floral decorations on the table were beautiful, all adding charm to the occasion. There were several parties at the Wayside Inn and a fine Thanksgiving dinner was served at this popular inn by Proprietor O. O. Krause.

MRS. ARTHUR E. PIKE. ©I.F.S.

WEALTHY SOCIETY WOMAN SAYS SHE WAS KIDNAPPED.

New York, Nov. 30.—Prepared for a legal battle to establish her status, Mrs. Arthur E. Pike, a wealthy society woman of the Riverside Drive section, is at her home today following a thrilling escape from a sanitarium at Stamford, Conn., and an exciting automobile ride twenty-five miles to Tarrytown, N. Y.

Mrs. Pike asserts that she was placed in the sanitarium without legal process. She declares that her husband and two private detectives invited her to take an automobile ride in October, 1914. Mrs. Pike had had Hubert J. Eaton, the so-called "tango thief," arrested, charged with stealing some of her jewelry, and she says her husband told her they would visit the district attorney. Instead, she asserts, she was taken to the sanitarium, where she was subjected to treatment that nearly killed her. She does not complain of physical violence, however.

The reason given by Mrs. Pike for the kidnapping is that her family did not wish her to appear in court against Eaton, fearing publicity.

Penalties For Meat Eating.

A most remarkable regulation affecting the food supply was one which attained its full vigor during Shakespeare's youth and which, in view of his early familiarity with the slaughter house—there are seventeen references to the butcher's trade in the historical plays—must have been brought particularly to his notice. This was the law, first enacted in 1549 and extended in 1563, enforcing abstinence from flesh for political and economic reasons, not only in Lent and on Ember days, Vigils and Fridays, but also on Saturdays and even on Wednesdays. The object aimed at in this legislation was the strengthening of the British navy through the encouragement of the fisheries, the North sea fisheries being regarded as a gold mine which the Dutch were exploiting. In 1563 four women who had a meal of meat in a London tavern during Lent were set in the stocks all night, and the woman who supplied them was set in the pillory.

Wild Cotton.

A common plant which grows in a score of shapes and sizes is the milkweed. It is called milkweed from the milky juice contained in the stems. Some bear white blossoms, others purple, while the stems and leaves have a variety of sizes and shapes. After the blossoms disappear the plants bear seed pods, which are the "hangars" for the air scouts.

Each seed has a set of wings of airy lint. As the pods ripen and break open the wind lifts the light seeds and scatters them broadcast.

Nature came very near making a substitute for cotton when she produced milkweed. In fact, the plant is known sometimes as "wild cotton." But the lint in the seed pods has not the twist of cotton fiber and therefore cannot be used for spinning. Nevertheless it provides a satisfactory down for stuffing pillows, a use to which frequently it is applied.—Boston Journal.

An Artist's Joke.

Holman Hunt, who began life as a clerk to an auctioneer and estate agent, was constantly drawing portraits when he should have been drawing up leases, and in his chosen profession he was never slow to seize the flying moment. The windows in his room were made of ground glass, and as he had little to do he spent much of his time in drawing flies upon its roughened surface. A blot of ink sufficed for the body and some delicate pencil strokes for the wings, and at a distance the deception was perfect. Day by day the number increased, and one morning his employer came in, stopped before the window and exclaimed: "I can't make out how it is. Every day that I come into this room there seem to be more and more flies." And, taking out his handkerchief, he attempted to brush them away.

Violent.

"Was her father violent when you asked him for her hand?"

"Was he? Great guns! I thought he'd shake my hand off."—London Saturday Journal.

While Your Coal-Hod has been shrinking KEROSENE has stayed the same

Coal has been going up—and up!

The papers say it may jump still higher before the winter is over.

Go light on coal—burn

SOCONY KEROSENE

and cut the high cost of heating.

A gallon of Socony Kerosene costs from 10 to 15 cents. Burned in a Perfection Oil Heater it will warm any ordinary room for 10 full hours.

10 or 15 cents worth of coal is about half a scuttle-full—and there's small comfort in a scuttle of coal these days.

A Perfection is on when you need it and off when the weather turns mild. You carry it upstairs and downstairs, wherever you want it.

But the furnace stays in the cellar, steadily burning up the dollars.

Get out your old oil heater, or order a new one today. See that the grocer delivers Socony Kerosene and no other, because Socony is the Standard Oil Company's best grade of refined oil. Look for the Socony Sign in his window.

Resolutions.

The Kingston Savings Bank through its trustees adopts this brief minute of appreciation of their late associate Trustee, Mr. John J. Campbell:

He was a kindly helpful man, willing and able. The industry and perseverance that had made him a tower of strength in the building trade were freely used in our Bank. Although his early death has prevented long association with us in this Bank still he left his impress on its business.

He was a forward-looking man. The regrets for yesterday figured little in his actions but the hopes and careful plans for tomorrow were his.

Affable, courteous, gentle but strong, we know his death is a distinct loss to this Bank and to this city.

will easily demonstrate itself to you as inimitable—tonally, acoustically, mechanically and artistically. The perfection of naturalness, beauty and fidelity to the original tone of the voice or instrument, as it pours out through the tone-control shutters from the tone chamber, is unmistakable. The elegance of its design and the flawlessness of its finish are in keeping with its musical qualities.

The instrument itself will say the same—right here or in your own home—wherever you like.

"GOOSEFLESH COON" COST HIM A FOOT

Comiskey of Winston's "Bull Gang" Met With Accident From Ungarded Cog Wheel and Interesting Point at Law is Concerned in $2,500 Appeal.

The case of William P. Comiskey against Winston and Company was argued before the judges of the appellate division at Albany on Wednesday. The plaintiff, Comiskey, who was an athlete and crack baseball player, belonged to the Winston "bull gang" so-called, a group of young men selected for emergency work because of their ability, alertness of mind and body, and fertility of resource in dangerous situations. It was his duty to tend a hoisting dump connected with a cableway engine used in the construction of the Ashokas dam. On the 9th day of December, 1909, he went into the shanty in which one of the large cableway engines used by the Winstons to lift material in the construction of that dam, was in operation. It was a colossal piece of machinery said to be as large as the Ulster county court room, and would lift twenty tons with ease. In this shanty were a number of the members of the "bull gang" who were entertaining themselves with the antics of a "gooseflesh" negro, one of those southern darkeys with a supersensitive skin who if suddenly touched with the finger, would jump ten or twelve feet. Comiskey with the others was interested in the performances of this man. As he was about to leave the shanty the engineer in charge asked him to throw a handful of cement on the friction block. As he did so his foot slipped into a cog connected with the pinion wheel of the engine, and was crushed.

Through his attorneys, Abbott and Coyne of New York, he brought an action in that county to recover $25,000. On the application of Judge Clearwater, counsel for the Winstons, the place of trial was removed to Ulster, where it was tried before Judge Cochrane when instead of $25,000 Comiskey recovered $2,500. It appeared indisputably that he had been in the shanty and about the engine fifteen to twenty times a day for five or six weeks. That he was singularly alert and proficient, and an unusually competent man.

The provisions of the labor law, commonly called the Factory Act went into operation on the first day of October, 1913. The case was tried in December of that year. That act provides that in all factories where goods are manufactured all cog wheels shall be guarded with a metal or wooden guard. This cog wheel was not guarded. Judge Cochrane charged the jury that the shanty containing the cableway engine was a factory within the provisions of the Factory Act, to which Judge Clearwater excepted he claiming that nothing was manufactured there, and that it was an illegal extension of the provisions of the Factory Act to rule that every cog wheel, particularly one used upon a hoisting engine, must be covered with guards. There were other exceptions during the trial.

The jury was out a long while, and came in twice for further instructions. Upon one occasion one of the jurors asked the plump question whether all cog wheels must be guarded, to which Judge Cochrane answered that the particular wheel by which Comiskey was injured should have been guarded. This also was excepted to. Immediately after the rendition of the verdict an appeal was taken to the appellate division and in the meantime, as contended by counsel for the Winstons the Factory Act has been construed by the court of appeals so as to exclude the construction placed upon it by Judge Cochrane at the trial.

Judge Clearwater called the attention of the judges of the appellate division to the fact that they could look out of their windows in the Ten Eyck Hotel, where they were staying, and see seven different cog wheels used for hoisting stone and brick for the use of the workmen on the twenty story addition to that hotel, and not a single one of them had a guard over it. He claimed that to apply the Factory Act to outdoor hoisting operations would be an unwise judicial addition to a legislative act. Also he claimed that the evidence clearly showed that Comiskey was guilty of gross contributory negligence in that at the time of throwing the cement on the friction block he was looking at the performances of the "gooseflesh" darkey, and not attending to the work he undertook to perform.

Their Life in Their Works.

If you look around the world for the greatest writers, you will see that they were people equal to doing many things besides putting little black scratches on paper; they were the people most alive in their time, and that is one reason why they are most alive now. Vernon Randall recently said in a paper read before the London Society Council School of Arts and Crafts, according to the London Saturday Review. They were so full of life that they had to express it for others.

Health of First Importance.

Exuberant health is better than riches and power to a man; indeed it often leads to their attainment. In fact nothing is of greater importance, and there are few things regarding which we know less practically speaking. Quackery, usage and superstition have made us suspicious of health talks and health-giving nostrums. Such vagueness surrounds the whole subject that you will hardly find two persons to agree upon the general rules governing physical health.

GENERAL GONZALES.

GONZALES PREPARES FOR DEFENSE OF JUAREZ.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 30.—Pancho Villa and his bandit army, who are reported to have won a victory over the Carranzistas at Chihuahua, are today said to be marching on Juarez, across the Rio Grande from this city. General Trevino, who commands the Carranza troops in the north of Mexico, has sent General Gonzales, in command at Juarez, orders to concentrate his forces in the north of Juarez for the defense of that city. Villa's drive to the north is said to be in the nature of a triumphant march.

A Polite Doubt.

A fond parent was telling Oliver Herford of the really bright remark of her three-year old daughter.

Herford was much impressed.

"How old did you say little Lena is?" he asked.

"Only three," answered the mother proudly.

"Do you know," said the humorist solemnly, "I have a suspicion that sometimes these children lie about their age."—McClure's Magazine.

Wood Pulp Silk.

Artificial silk manufactured from wood pulp for which several kinds of California timber are suitable is used annually in this country to the amount of 7,000,000,000 pounds. It is utilized principally in the manufacture of millinery, sweaters and hosiery.

New Zealand's Glaciers.

The great size of the glaciers around Mount Cook, in New Zealand, has been often remarked. The Tasman is eighteen miles long, the Murchison ten miles, the Godley eight miles, the Mueller eight miles and the Hooker seven miles. Most of these glaciers have moraines of exceeding roughness, but the approaches to them are not steep, as is usually the case with European glaciers. The southern Alpine snow line is only a little over 7,000 feet. Glacially polished rocks are rare, and in many ways the mountains are singularly different from those of central Europe.

His Practice.

"The footpad fired at you four times from a distance of twenty feet and yet missed you?"

"Oh, no!" replied the hero of the adventure. "I missed him. I have dodged so many automobiles and motorcycles that I had no difficulty in dodging the bullets."—Kansas City Star.

Missing Then.

Father—Don't know the French for cat, and you had a French nurse for years! Hopeful—But, dad, we hadn't got a cat when Adele was with us.—London Punch.

There Were Others.

Redd—You say he ran into debt when he got his car? Greene—Yes; that was the first thing he ran into.—Yonkers Statesman.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Diet For Diabetes.

A Kansas City doctor advises a diet of raw starch for diabetic patients. He places them on raw starch and water only for from one to four days, until they have burned all the sugar out of their systems.

The starch is given in the form of cornstarch, a rounding teaspoonful stirred into a glass of water three or four times a day. Or he lets them eat raw potatoes with a little salt. A daily sponge bath and rubdown is the only other treatment.

As soon as no more sugar can be detected he allows the patient to eat lettuce or celery with a little salt and a soft boiled egg. After awhile meat and other vegetables are added to the diet. All sugar and cooked starch are barred until the patient has been sugar free for several months, when a little toast or bread is allowed. If the sugar returns the patient is put back on the raw starch and water for a day or two.

LIFE'S OPPORTUNITY.

The man who sees in life the opportunity to express himself in the largest terms; who after ascertaining what faculties he has determines to develop them to the highest possible efficiency; who is capable of seeing the sweetness and joy that lie all about him; who, being proud, does not allow his body or mind to be defiled—he is the one who obtains the big rewards.—Oppenheim.

Edison Forgot Science.

The summer before his marriage Edison and a party of friends visited Mount Washington. Among the party was Edison's fiancee, Miss Mina Miller. At the end of the visit the editor of Among the Clouds, which is printed there daily, asked Edison if he would be kind enough to give him an item for his paper. Naturally all in the party looked for some scientific thought caused by the high altitude. But Edison's thoughts had evidently been elsewhere, as his friends discovered when he took the offered pencil and wrote, to the editor's surprise, "Miss Mina Miller of Akron, the most beautiful woman in Ohio, is today a guest of Mount Washington."—Woman's Home Companion.

DOING ONE'S DUTY.

Let us do our duty in our shop or our kitchen, the market, the street, the office, the school, the home, just as faithfully as if we stood in the front of some great battle and we knew that victory for mankind depended on our bravery, strength and skill. When we do that, the humblest of us will be serving in that great army which gloriously achieves the welfare of the world.—Theodore Parker.

AFTER HOLIDAY FOOD SALE AT

FIRST IN CONGRESS

The Only American Woman to Sit In the House Officially.

WOMEN STOOD BY HER.

Still Young and Attractive With Her Reddish Hair, Able to Make Her Own Clothes and Cook, Miss Rankin Now Becomes Congresswoman Elect.

Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, the woman congressman elect, is a source of pride to the National Suffrage association, inasmuch as she was for a number of years one of its most valued organizers and the standard bearer who carried her state for suffrage.

Miss Rankin led the fight that won the ballot for her sex in Montana in 1914, and it was expected that for this reason, if for no other, she would get the vote of every member of the sex in that state regardless of party affiliations.

As soon as it was learned that Miss Rankin had won, telegrams from all parts of the country showered upon her at her home in Missoula. Prominent suffrage leaders sent messages saying that her election was significant of a great victory for the women of the country.

Jeannette Rankin is a member of a well to do banker's family of Missoula. She is small, slight, with reddish brown hair, and is about thirty-five years of age. She is a graduate of the University of Montana and makes her own clothes—stunning ones, too—and her hats. She is also an excellent cook.

SNAPPY STUFFINGS.

Various Delectable Ways to Dress Up the Bird.

Here are some very tasty stuffings:

Raisin Stuffing.—Soak and squeeze dry one quart of breadcrumbs, add two well beaten eggs, one teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of parsley, one cupful of chopped raisins and one-half cupful of chopped celery. This is excellent for wild game birds.

Sausage Stuffing.—Mix together four cupfuls of bread soaked in water and pressed dry, one egg, one-half cupful of chopped celery, one-half pound of sausage, one teaspoonful of salt and one fourth teaspoonful of pepper. This makes an excellent filling for a goose.

Chestnut Stuffing.—Shell one quart of large, round chestnuts. Place them in hot water and boil until the skins are softened; then drain off the water and remove the skins. Replace in water and boil until soft. Take out a few at a time and rub through a sieve. They mash more easily when hot. Season the mashed chestnuts with one tablespoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoonful of pepper, one teaspoonful of grated lemon rind and one teaspoonful of chopped parsley. Add one tablespoonful of grated ham, two tablespoonfuls of grated bread crumbs and two well beaten eggs. Beware of having this stuffing too wet.

Celery Stuffing.—Saute one tablespoonful of chopped onions in two tablespoonfuls of butter; add one cupful chopped celery, one cupful of chopped apples. Cook for five minutes, then add one cupful of breadcrumbs, salt, pepper and grated nutmeg to taste and enough stock to moisten.

Peanut Stuffing.—Crumble a small loaf of stale graham bread, then season highly with salt and paprika; add one-half teaspoonful of powdered herbs, half a pint of shelled, roasted peanuts, ground; four drops of onion juice, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley and sufficient cream to moisten slightly. Blend well and stuff the turkey six hours before cooking if possible, so that the flavor of the dressing may have a chance to permeate the meat.

For Match Scratches.

Painted woodwork that has been marred by match scratches can be restored to its original condition by rubbing with lemon and then washing with a clean rag dipped in water.

Smith (to member of vested choir)—I hear you've got a new tenor in the choir. What kind of a voice has he—good? Jones—Good? I should say so! It's so good none of the other tenors will speak to him.—Life.

CITY ORDINANCE.

An ordinance to [illegible] an ordinance entitled "An ordinance regulating traffic on the public streets of the city of Kingston," passed August 18, 1911.

Passed November 8, 1916.

The Common Council of the city of Kingston do ordain as follows:

Section One.—Section 10 of Article 1 of an ordinance passed August 18, 1911, entitled, "An ordinance regulating traffic on the public streets of the city of Kingston," is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section 10.—No vehicle, unless in an emergency or to allow a train or a trolley car or another vehicle or pedestrian to cross its path, shall stop in any public street except near and when practicable within six inches of the right hand curb thereof and so as not to obstruct a crossing or street intersection.

Section Two.—Section 12 of Article 1 of said ordinance is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section 12.—A person operating or in charge of a street railway car shall cause it to stop on the far side of the street to discharge or take on passengers, except at the intersection of Broadway and Railroad avenue when proceeding easterly, and except at the City Hall crossings, and except at intersection of Fair and Main streets when proceeding northerly along Fair street and except at the intersection of Fair and John streets when proceeding southerly, at which points they shall cause such cars to stop on the near side of the street.

Section Three.—Article 1 of said ordinance is hereby amended by the addition of another section as follows.

Section 25.—No person shall cause or permit any vehicle driven by him or in his charge to be left standing in or upon any public street within ten feet of a street corner or of a city hydrant except for the purpose of permitting some one to alight from or enter such vehicle and then only for such length of time as may be necessary for such purpose.

Section Four.—Article 1 of said ordinance is hereby amended by the addition of another section as follows:

Section 26.—A person driving or in charge of any vehicle in any public street shall comply with all directions of a police officer in uniform, or upon the officer displaying his badge if not in uniform, and with all traffic standards or signs placed by or at the direction of the police department, and with all signs placed by or at the direction of the Board of Public Works or the superintendent thereof in connection with the building or repairing of any sewer, and the paving, improving or repairing of any street, and with all signs placed by or at the direction of the Board of Water Commissioners or its superintendent, in connection with the laying or repairing of any water mains or pipes.

Section Five.—Article IV of said ordinance is hereby amended by the addition of another section as follows:

Section 7.—A person driving or in charge of any vehicle shall not use or permit the use of any dazzling or glaring headlight, searchlight or spotlight on any street paved with brick or concrete, or on any street when passing another vehicle.

Section Six.—Article IV of said ordinance is hereby further amended by the addition of another section as follows:

Section 8.—Every motor vehicle, whether stationary or in motion, while upon any street, shall, during the period from one-half hour after sunset to one-half before sunrise, display at least two lighted lamps on the front of such vehicle, and one on the rear of such vehicle which shall also display a red light visible from the rear.

Section Seven.—This ordinance shall be published twice in the official papers of the city, and shall take effect immediately after the publication thereof, and at the expiration of thirty days after a copy of this ordinance shall be filed with the secretary of state.

I hereby approve the foregoing ordinance.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand this 9th day of November, 1916.

PALMER CANFIELD, JR.,
Mayor.

State of New York, County of Ulster, City of Kingston, ss.:

I, John T. Cummings, city clerk of the city of Kingston, do hereby certify that I have compared the foregoing ordinance with the original on file and on record in the city clerk's office, and that the same is a correct transcript therefrom and of the whole of said original.

I further certify that a copy of the foregoing ordinance has been duly filed in the office of the secretary of state in the capitol at Albany, N. Y., on the 14th day of November, 1916, and will take effect on the 10th day of December, 1916.

JOHN T. CUMMINGS,
City Clerk.

His Ordeal.

The sympathetic neighbor asked: "Is your little brother ill this morning, Johnnie? I heard him crying in the most heartrending way."

"No, not exactly," Johnnie explained, "but Willie pulled down a jar of molasses on himself in the pantry, and mother has been trying to comb his hair."—New York Globe.

There are hulling machines that take green peas out of their parent pods at the rate of 1,000 bushels a day.

It requires a certain amount of tact to be sincere with your friends and still keep them.—Philadelphia Record.

Too Sore to Shake.

"Did you take the mixture I gave you?"

"To tell you the truth, I did not, doctor."

"Why not?"

"Well, I fancy you made a little mistake. You gave me acute mixture. It says, 'Shake before taking,' and my complaint is rheumatism."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"So you're actually going to marry young Wasterly? Why, there's nothing to him but his follies and a big bank account."

"Well, you can rely on me to change all that."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Ich Dien or Eich Dyn.

Which is accurate as the motto of the Prince of Wales—Ich Dien or Eich Dyn? The one is German and the other Welsh. The one means "I serve," the other "Behold the man" or "Behold your man."

"Ich Dien" was the motto of John, king of Bohemia, whom the Black Prince slew at Crecy. "Eich Dyn" are the words supposed to have been used by Edward I. when presenting his infant son to the Welsh assembly at Carnarvon.

Welsh tradition has adhered naturally to the Welsh form. The other has been more popularly accepted.—London Lady's Pictorial.

Iron in Plants.

Iron is the substance which gives the green appearance to foliage. It forms a constituent part of chlorophyll and is the green coloring matter which stains the bodies inside the cells of leaves, called plastids.

When the first organized food is being formed in the leaves from water and carbonic acid gas a certain amount of energy is required. This is obtained from the sun's rays, but the work of absorbing it is carried out by the chlorophyll. It requires very little iron for the production of all the chlorophyll found in a crop, and nearly all soils contain an abundant supply.—London Standard.

Senatorial Courtesy.

Senatorial courtesy is a term applied to a custom which has grown up in the senate of not enforcing any rules or regulations looking to the closing of debate, the senate, as a whole, giving to each senator practically the right to discuss any question before the senate as long as he wants to. The term has, however, been extended not only to the courtesy of debate, but to denote the general tendency in the senate, irrespective of political differences, for the senators to be very kindly disposed to pet measures and projects of their fellows. By reason of senatorial courtesy there is no closure in debates.

Gay Birds of the Olden Time.

Extravagance in dress prevailed in the reign of Edward III., who ascended the English throne early in the year 1327.

Men then wore silk hoods, particolored coats with deep sleeves and narrow waists, short hose, long pointed shoes, bushy beards and tails of hair at the back of their heads.

"The ladies," says a poet of that period, "are like peacocks and magpies." They were attired in turbans or lofty miters, with ribbons floating from them like streamers, tunics half of one color and half of another and deeply embiazoned zones or belts from the front of which daggers were suspended.

Worship of the Moon.

The Moslem still slaps his hands at the sight of the new moon and mutters a prayer, although the Koran appears to forbid the practice in the words, "Bend not in adoration of the sun or moon." Herodotus accuses the ancient Persians of being moon worshipers, and, though they denied the practice, the following passage from the Zend Avesta would seem to be conclusive: "We sacrifice to the new moon, the holy and master of holiness; we sacrifice to the full moon, the holy and master of holiness."

Napoleon's First Love.

The little French town of Auxonne is not associated in the popular mind with Napoleon; but, as Miss Betham-Edwards reminds us in "Unfrequented France," he spent some years of his cadetship there. "In the Saone he twice narrowly escaped drowning, and here, too, as narrowly, so the story runs, marriage with a bourgeoise maiden called Maneca. Two ivory counters bearing this romantic name in Napoleon's handwriting enrich the little museum."

Bachelors and Longevity.

The que[stion] of the relative value of marri[age] single blessedness in regard [to] life has often engaged the at[tention] of scientific men. Some years [ago] Bertillon produced a set of figures on the subject, and the result of his calculations is that from twenty-five to thirty years of age the mortality per 1,000 is 4 in married men and 10.4 in bachelors." Statistics of that kind, I fear, are of little value when we remember that it is the man who is better off and physically strong who gets married. The cynical view of the real position is of course that the married man does not live longer—it only seems longer to him.—Westminster Gazette.

Beneficial Shock.

One day a gentleman gave half a crown to a "deaf and dumb" beggar, who, quite taken off his guard by such unusual munificence, exclaimed: "Bless you, sir! Bless you!"

"Hello!" said the gentleman. "I thought you were deaf and dumb."

"So I was, sir," replied the beggar, "but your extraordinary generosity was such a shock—such a pleasant shock—to the system that it has restored my speech and hearing. Bless you again, sir, a thousand times!"—London Tit-Bits.

The Orchid.

The orchid is a peculiar plant, for, strange as it may seem, there is no distinctively orchid odor. One smells like the violet, others like the rose, the hyacinth, the daffodil. Orchids are the monkeys, the mimics of the vegetable world, in odor as well as form and hue. No other flower resembles an orchid, but orchids are forever aping butterflies, pansies, roses, spiders, pitch plants, birds and what not. And they are not absolutely certain to look just the same twice in succession.

NEW MANAGEMENT FOR OLD HOTEL

After two months of renovating and refurnishing the West Shore Hotel, formerly the Hotel Bauer, will be formally opened Saturday evening by Proprietor J. S. Pessenar, who prior to his new charge operated the Avon Inn at Pine Hill for ten years.

The supper in the attractive grill room will be the first meal served at the new hostelry. The specialties for the evening will be plank steaks, lobsters and sea foods of all kinds, to be served a la carte. Commencing Monday business men's lunches from 11 to 2:30 will be served daily. Sunday dinners from 12 to 2:30 may be had.

The hotel was rather neglected when Mr. Pessenar bought the property but by means of his extensive experience in the hotel line he has converted the building into one of the most attractive places in the vicinity of the West Shore. Edward Stoltz of New York city has been engaged as chef. Booths have been placed in the cafe, the dining room is tastefully furnished in mission, tile floors and metal ceilings have been built throughout the ground floor and the bed chambers have been re-furnished.

The contractors who did the work throughout the building are: John Duffner, carpenter work; Roswell Coles, electric wiring and fitting; Emerick Company, laying of tile floors; Canfield Supply Company, plumbing; Fred Bell, painting; Gregory & Company, house furnishings; G. W. Parish, metal ceilings; W. G. Johnston, awnings and Theodore Weeks & Son, cabinet work.

DARCY HOPES TO MEET BRITTON.

Les Darcy, the mysterious Australian, whose whereabouts at just this movement are in doubt, may be on his way to the United States. If he is headed for this country, a struggle with Jack Britton, in all probability will be one of the first bouts he will seek. It is known that Darcy hopes some time to meet Britton for the welterweight championship.

Very unusual and attractive is the manner in which fur is applied on many of the new suits. A suit of maroon velours is shown here with three-quarter length coat, semi-fitted at the waistline, showing a border of Kolinsky fur, the upper edge cut in scalloped effect. This fur is also lavishly used on the cuffs and forms a novel convertible collar. High button boots and smart turban are attractive finishing touches.

CLARK MAY NOT BE SPEAKER OF NEXT HOUSE.

When Speaker Champ Clark opens the short session of the Sixty-fourth Congress on December 4, it may mark his last session as presiding officer of the house. Lines will be so close in the house when the new congress begins in March that it may be possible for the Republicans to remove the Missourian from the Speakership and elevate a Republican to that post.

"In a Persian Garden" to be Given.

A rare musical treat has been carefully prepared for the people of Kingston by Harry P. Dodge, organist and choir master of St. John's Episcopal Church, in the presentation of "In a Persian Garden," (a musical transcription, so to speak, of The Rubyiat) which will occur on Wedneday evening of next week, December 6th., at St. John's parish house. The composition is in the nature of a series of song cycles, solos, duets and quartets. The soloists for the evening will be Miss Jacus, soprano of New York city, and soloist at the Wurts Street Baptist Church; Miss Hey., allo of Poughkeepsie, and also soloist at the same church; Herman LaTour, tenor soloist of St. John's Church and Harry Clearwater, baritone soloist of St. John's Church. Mr. Dodge will preside at the piano. The first half of the program will be of a miscellaneous character and will be announced later. Tickets may now be purchased of any of the choir boys, or of members of the church. They should be purchased at once as the seating capacity of the parish house is limited, and only a sufficient number of tickets will be sold to correspond with the accommodations of the auditorium.

Beautiful Thanksgiving Offering.

The chancel and altar of St. John's Episcopal Church never looked more artistic and really beautiful in its decorations than on Thanksgiving morning at the time of the special Thanksgiving service. Luscious fruits were laid on the altar; two tables either side of the altar were piled high with gifts of fruit, vegetables and other food commodities, and even overflowed onto the floor. The pulpit was artistically draped with smilax and great clusters of grapes and the two windows nearest the chancel were piled with fruit and vegetables, all the gifts of the people of St. John's. Following the service and sermon both of which were an inspiration to a very real thanksgiving, the rector, the Rev. Mr. Larned, and some of the choir boys distributed to twelve very needy families—some in and some outside St. John's Church—twelve large baskets filled with food supplies which were welcomed in more than one instance, with tears of gratitude. In addition, fruit was taken to the city home, one of the parishioners generously loaning the use of her automobile and chauffeur, for the distributing of the gifts.

FREAK TREES.

Heavy Snowstorms Often Cause Bent and Twisted Trunks.

To the person who is not versed in forest lore the grotesquely bent tree trunks that are to be found in almost all woods are mystifying, and wonder is often aroused as to the cause.

Foresters will tell questioners that in the case of trees in mountainous country and other sections where the snowfall is heavy the weight of snow is responsible in most instances for the queer twists they assume.

When a tree is young the weight of snow that falls on its branches often bends the trunk over until it is flattened to the ground. Sometimes it is buried under six or eight feet of snow and held in that position so long that when warm weather comes the tree fails to spring back into its normal position.

The summer sun causes the tip of the young tree to turn upward, and if it manages to withstand the weight of the snow of the next winter that portion of the tree will, as a general rule, continue to grow in a normal way. "Hairpin" bends and other odd shapes result.

A curious tree stands on the top of Tunnel hill, Johnstown, Pa., about four miles from town. It is a sugar maple about 100 years old, which has prolonged its own life by grafting a branch into a much younger tree.—Popular Science Monthly.

VAMPIRE BATS OF PERU.

These Bloodsucking Animals Have Bulldog Heads.

On the morning after our arrival at San Miguel bridge (Peru) the pack mules nearly all showed blood blotches on their withers and backs, where they had been attacked during the night by vampire bats which had fed on their blood. This bat, Desmodus rotundus, is plentifully distributed throughout Peru in altitudes below 10,000 feet.

It is one of the most highly specialized species of existing bats. The lower jaw is decidedly undershot, and the head, with its short cropped ears and broad muzzle, has a strikingly bulldog appearance. The legs are well developed and rather heavy, enabling the animal to move fairly rapidly on the ground, in which situation it is by no means the shuffling, helpless creature like many other bats. If molested when thrown to the ground it will turn and bite savagely.

The teeth are a highly modified cutting apparatus for making incisions in the skins of mammals and birds.

In habits they are sociable and are commonly found living in caves or tunnels, suspended from the ceiling in clusters often of immense size.—National Geographic Magazine.

The Food of the Cod.

The cod has the reputation of being as omnivorous as the goat, whose appetite for posters and old tin cans is the subject of frequent jests. The varied nature of what the cod swallows is not more remarkable than the enormous quantity. According to a writer in the Scotsman, such articles as silver brooches, clasp knives, books and rubber balls have been found in its stomach. One fisherman of Aberdeen has a stone that weighs more than a pound, taken from a cod that had swallowed it for the sea anemones with which it was covered. The same fisherman has also found specimens of almost all the stalk eyed crustaceans that frequent the northern coast of Scotland and of every kind of fish that a cod can master, including its own young. Cod have been known to swallow partridges, guillemots and hares.

Alder Dye.

For the purpose of making dyes the common alder appears to have been unnoticed by the pioneers of this country, who made use of so many barks and roots. However, it was well known to the Indians, who used it to good effect. It dyes a reddish color, and down to a few years ago was employed by natives of the northwest Pacific coast in coloring their fish nets. Alder dye, used for the same purpose, is said to be the oldest recorded dye in the world. It is mentioned in the Kalevala of Finland, supposed to date nearly 3,000 years ago.

Not Hurt by Use.

During his vacation a San Francisco lawyer met an old friend in the village, and their conversation drifted to a discussion of the natives. A young farmer came under his view. "He's a fine-looking young fellow," said the lawyer. "Y-e-s," assented his friend dubiously. "Well, anyway, he has a mighty good head." "It ought to be good," was the reply. "That man's head is brand-new—he's never used it any."

No Need for Mother to Worry.

An anxious mother wrote to the chaplain to make inquiries about her boy, from whom she had not heard in many months. The chaplain found the boy in the guardhouse, and then he wrote a letter to the mother saying: "Do not worry about your boy. He is staying home every night and not drinking. His conduct is beyond reproach."

Fear, the Tormentor.

How many useless torments are ours because of fear! Looking back over my own life I can see that most of my sufferings were due to fears, and that they were all, every one of them, both useless and poison. Of all the demons that ride poor mortals, fear is the most malicious.—Irish World.

VILLA BOASTS OF KILLING AMERICANS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 1.—In a taunting telegram to General Gonzales, Carranza commander at Juarez today, Pancho Villa declared he had killed forty Chinese and three "Blanco Chinos" after capturing Chihuahua City.

"Blanco Chinos" is an expression of derision Villa coined recently in referring to Americans. Whether he actually executed three Americans was not known positively today.

Mr. Wilson is a veteran of the Civil War. There was a large attendance at the reunion.

Twenty-five little folks were entertained Thanksgiving Day by Mrs. Charles Jordan at her home on Adams street in honor of the first birthday of her grandson, Wendell Scherer. A large clothes basket prettily decorated with evergreen was presented to her filled with many useful and pretty gifts of linen, china, silver, and a variety of other pretty things. After the first basket was emptied it was quickly filled again. Miss Slyvert greatly appreciated the kindness and thoughtfulness of her many friends and was heard to remark that instead of a shower it looked like a regular "down pour." The rooms were prettily decorated with evergreen. Music was enjoyed and dainty refreshments served, and after wishing Miss Slyvert much happiness in the future the guests departed for their homes. Quite a number of pretty gifts were received by friends from the city that couldn't be present and guests were present from Lake Hill, Willow, Bearsville, Wittenberg and Mt. Tremper.

Day Nursery Dance Tonight.

The Byrne Orchestra of New York have played recently for some of the most fashionable affairs in the metropolis. In January of last year they played for the Junior League entertainment, "The City of Beautiful Nonsense." In August they played for the Southampton Chapter of the Red Cross which gave an entertainment called the "Merry Whirl of 1916," among the patronesses of which were Mrs. James Lawrence Breese, Mrs. Stephen Peabody, Mrs. Frances Burral Hoffman, Mrs. Newbold Edgar, Mrs. George Barton French, Mrs. Albert Gallatin, Mrs. Arthur B. Claflin, Mrs. Harry Oelrichs and Mrs. W. M. K. Olcott. In April they played for "Fortune's Fete," given for the benefit of the Lighthouse, when the patronage included some of the most distinguished men and women of the land. Tonight this orchestra will play for the Day Nursery Dance to be given by the young ladies of the Monday Afternoon Sewing Club, at St. Mary's Hall, an affair which, judging from the advance sale of tickets promises to be not only the society event of the season, but a financial success in the interest of the Day Nursery.

London, Dec. 1.—The first serious protest in Parliament against growing financial burden caused by the war will be made when the new vote of credit submitted to Commons next Wednesday, says the parliamentary correspondent of the Chronicle today. Certain labor leaders and leaders of other political factions threaten to precipitate a general debate on the conduct of the war, bringing up the question of peace. Of Interest to Mrs. Barber's Friends.

The many friends of Mrs. Magdalena Barber, formerly of this city, sister of Mrs. Archibald Winter, will be interested in the following clipping from the Riverside (Cal.) Press: "From the turkey-sealed napkins to the delectable pumpkin pie, which concluded the menu, the luncheon served yesterday afternoon by members of the Home Economics Department of the Woman's Club, was suggestive of Thanksgiving. The tables were gay in autumn flowers and fruits, the yellow decorative note prevailing. Brown baskets filled with chrysanthemums, sunflowers and ferns and hollowed pumpkins holding purple grapes and rosy-cheeked apples, made the tables unusually attractive. Little nut cases of yellow crepe paper tied with silver tissue, completed the appointments. The attractive menu, prepared and served under the able direction of Mrs. Magdalena Barber, chairman of the committee, establishments a precedent for future committee to equal."

Basketball This Evening.

Saugerties and Kingston high schools will meet at basketball in the local school this evening, the first game of the season for Kingston. Saugerties, as is her wont occasionally, produced a team last year which downed Kingston in one of the two games played by the neighboring schools. To start their season without the mark of defeat is the resolve of the home boys and that they will come close to their ideal seems a certainty, so strong is the lineup for this evening: Kiernan and Dolson, forwards; Johnson, center; Joyce and Relyea, guards; and Dwyer and Wilson, substitutes. All of the regulars were on last year's five and are well seasoned men. The game starts at 8.

Bryan Breaks up Cabinet.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Social lionizing of William Jennings Bryan by official Washington began today with such vigor that it broke up cabinet plans. So many of President Wilson's official family expected to attend Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels' luncheon to Mr. Bryan that the regular cabinet meeting was cancelled.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Dec. 1.—There was a good demand for nearly all the active issues at the opening of the stock exchange today and during the first fifteen minutes many stocks made advances ranging from 1 to 2 points. A number of stocks sold ex-dividend. U. S. Steel Common sold ex the regular and extra dividend of 2¼ per cent at 125⅝, against 127⅛ at the close on Wednesday with the dividend on, a net gain of a point. Union Pacific sold ex the quarterly dividend of $2.00 at 148⅝, a net gain of 1⅜ points. Reading started 1⅛ points higher at 111 and advances of a point or more were recorded in a number of the other railway issues. U. S. Rubber, Corn Products, Marine Common and Utah Copper all scored gains of around a point. Rock Island was traded in on a large scale and rose a point to 37¾, the highest price touched since the re-organization plan was established. Studebaker and Baldwin Locomotive were weak features. After the first fifteen minutes trading, increased strength was shown, and U. S. Steel Comon rose to 126⅜, and Utah Copper to 123½.

Pronounced weakness was displayed in the motor group and in a number of the specialties in the late forenoon. United Fruit declined from 160 to 157⅛ and Central Leather from 111 to 108¾. Studebaker dropped 2⅝ to 113⅛ and Baldwin Locomotive 1 to 76½. Ohio City Gas was strong and rose 5⅝ to a new high mark of 110. Steel Common declined to 125⅛, Union Pacific to 147⅜, Reading from 111⅝ to 110½. Rock Island from 38¼ to 37¼, and other railway issues lost nearly all their early improvements. There was continued accumulation of Alaska Gold, which rose ⅞ to 14⅜. Money loaning at 4½ per cent.

In the late afternoon there was little feature to the trading. A few of the specialties which had advanced around midday reacted slightly and recessions were noted in a number of the railway stocks. Mexican Petroleum was a weak feature, declining two points to below 105. Steel Common was very large, but that stock showed little change during this period.

The market closed strong. Many issues were in good demand in the late trading at advances, but the tone was mixed because of the neglect of the leading stocks while closely held specialties were forced up. Pittsburgh Coal rose about 3 points, crossing 57, and a new high record. American Car and Foundry rose over 2 points to above 76. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds irregular.

The Rev. S. Bullen preached a very interesting and instructive Thanksgiving sermon last Sunday evening. His text was taken from the last clause of the 25th verse of the 78th Psalm—"He sent them meat to the full."

As nearly as we can remember there is an old saying which runs like this: "Never look a gift horse in the mouth." Well, the writer doesn't know whether Charles C. Beaver has disobeyed that injunction or not, but we do know that before C. McKenzie left Esopus for his southern trip he presented his horse, Walter, to his neighbor, Mr. Beaver. Mr. McKenzie was greatly attached to the animal and it was at his own suggestion that the horse changed owners. The terms of agreement were that Walter should always remain in the possession of Mr. Beaver.

Vincent Bullen is at present confined to the house as the result of a severe injury received the last night of our recent church fair. He endeavored to quiet a restless horse until those in the carriage could secure a firm hold on the reins then leaped aside to avoid the wheels and was thrown violently to the ground. He paid little attention to the mishap until some days later a painful sensation reminded him of the injury. The result is an abscess requiring the attention of a physician. The abscess has now been lanced and the patient is resting quietly with the prospect of a speedy recovery, and a return to high school in the near future.

Absurd Old Laws.

An article in the Revue des Traditions Popularies in 1890 told how a glacier was excommunicated on account of the damage it did to life and property in the valley. In English law there was for many years a statute compelling owners of personal chattels which had caused the death of a man to give them to God. This was accomplished by turning them over to the crown to be sold and the proceeds applied to pious uses.
